

Educating displaced children and youth in Montana presents many unique challenges due to the nature of our state. Most of our school districts are small and rural with dedicated staff members filling multiple roles. Our communities have few resources or services designed to meet the needs of families and youth experiencing homelessness, such as emergency shelters, transitional housing, or soup kitchens. Despite these challenges, our educators and communities work tirelessly to meet the needs of Montana's most vulnerable children.

The Office of Public Instruction (OPI) provides training and technical assistance to school districts and local homeless liaisons. The OPI also provides information and awareness materials to educators, nonprofits, shelter providers, and other interested community members throughout the state of Montana.

The OPI's McKinney-Vento Program is located in the 1300 11th Avenue building, Helena, Montana, in the Federal Programs Unit. The purpose of this program is to ensure that every homeless child and youth in Montana has equal access to the same free, appropriate public education as provided to other children and youth in Montana schools.

National Center for Homeless Education
At the SERVE Center

The National Center for Homeless Education (NCHE) provides research, resources, and information enabling communities to address the educational needs of children experiencing homelessness. Funded by the U.S. Department of Education, NCHE serves as a clearinghouse of information for people seeking to remove or overcome educational barriers and to improve educational opportunities and outcomes for children and youth experiencing homelessness. The NCHE also supports educators and service providers through producing training and awareness materials and providing training at regional and national conferences and events.

Contact the NCHE helpline at 1-800-308-2145 or homeless@serve.org.

The Montana Office of Public Instruction Families in Transition Program

Definition of Family in Transition

The term "family in transition" refers to individuals who lack a fixed, regular, and adequate nighttime residence.

Under the law a child may qualify as homeless if he/she is:

- Living in an emergency shelter, domestic violence shelter, or transitional housing.
- Living in a motel or hotel due to economic hardship.
- Living in a car, park, public place, bus or train station, abandoned building, or other structure not meant for housing.
- Doubled up with relatives or friends due to a loss of housing, economic hardship, or a similar reason.

Children who are not living with a parent or legal guardian may be considered a homeless, unaccompanied youth if their living situation meets one of the four definitions listed above.

If you or someone you know is living in one of these situations, contact your local school district for assistance with services in your school and your community.

The Office of Public Instruction is committed to equal opportunity and non-discriminatory access to all our programs and services.

For more information or to file a complaint, contact Tom Antonick, OPI Title IX/EEO Coordinator at 406-444-3161 or tantonick@mt.gov

- Have their parents participate in and attend school events and activities.

Tips for Parents

- Make sure your child arrives at school on time every day. Children who miss school miss out on important learning activities.
- Make sure your child gets eight to ten hours of sleep every night. Children who are well rested learn more.
- Read to your child every day. Reading is the key to success in school. Talk to your child's teacher or school librarian about books you can read together.
- Talk with your child's school about your living situation. Your child may qualify for additional help through other programs and resources available at the school.
- Talk to your child's teacher. The more a teacher knows about your child the more they can help them succeed.
- Get involved in your child's education. Your child's teacher and school can talk with you about how to become an active part of the school community.
