The written affirmation is a tool that guides the timely and meaningful consultation between districts and private schools to ensure equitable services for private school children, teachers, parents, and other educational personnel. The goal of the consultation process is to provide an agreement between the district and private schools. District officials must take into consideration the private school officials' views on how to serve students and the design of the program. Consultation includes meetings with private school officials before the district makes any decisions that affect the opportunities available to private schools choosing to participate in federal programs. Such meetings will continue throughout the implementation of the program and will include a final assessment of the services provided.

Under the ESSA, if the district disagrees with the views of private school officials with respect to any topic subject to consultation, the district must provide—in writing to private school officials—the reasons why the district disagrees. The final decision rests with the district.

Discuss the following topics during the initial and ongoing consultation.

- Identification of eligible children's needs based upon agreed-to assessments.
- What services will be offered. Services, including materials and equipment, must be secular, neutral, and non-ideological.
- How, where, and by whom the services will be provided.
- How services are assessed and how the results of the assessment will be used to improve those services.
- The size and scope of the equitable services provided to eligible private school children, teachers, parents, and other educational personnel.
- The proportional share of funding allocated for services and how the funding allocated is determined.
- How and when decisions about delivery of services will be made and how the private school will be notified of those decisions.
- Whether services will be provided by the school district directly or through a separate government agency, consortium, entity, or third-party contractor.
- Whether to provide equitable services to eligible private school children by pooling funds allocated for the program's purpose.

For Title I, Part A, discuss these additional topics.

- What methods or sources of data will be used to determine the number of children from low-income families attending private schools that are in the participating school attendance areas?
- If the public school district disagrees with the views of the private school officials on the provision of services through a contract, how will the public school district provide—in writing to the private school officials—an analysis of the reasons why the district has chosen not to use a contractor?
- When will services be provided (including the approximate time of day)?
