Montana Educator Performance Appraisal System (Montana-EPAS) Superintendent Evaluation: Process Guide and Model Examples

High-quality, high-performing teachers and school and district leaders are critical to ensure student learning, well-being, and success. An evaluation system based in ongoing professional growth for each teacher, principal, superintendent, and other school leaders will help to foster learning environments that meet the needs of each student (Evaluation Systems Work Group 2013).

Introduction

The Montana-EPAS consists of models for the evaluation of teachers and school and district leaders. This standards-based evaluation system is designed to encourage a continuum of professional growth throughout a superintendent's career. The Montana-EPAS provides useable tools for school districts to implement the state model or use a common framework to align local systems of continuous growth and evaluation to the state standards. Improving professional practice of superintendents will help to assure student success.

The Montana-EPAS was developed by the Evaluation Systems Work Group, formed to meet the requirements of the Board of Public Education (BPE). Administrative Rules of Montana (ARM) 10.55.701(4) outlines the requirements pertaining to school district evaluations. ARM 10.55.701 Board of Trustees states:

(4)(a) The evaluation system used by a school district for licensed staff shall, at a minimum:
(i) be conducted on at least an annual basis with regard to nontenure staff and according to a regular schedule adopted by the district for all tenure staff; (ii) be aligned with applicable district goals, standards of the Board of Public Education, and the district's mentorship and induction program required under ARM 10.55.701(5)(b); (iii) identify what skill sets are to be evaluated; (iv) include both formative and summative elements; and (v) include an assessment of the superintendent's effectiveness in supporting every student in meeting rigorous learning goals through the performance of the superintendent's duties.
(4)(b) ... the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall develop and publish model evaluation instruments that comply with this rule in collaboration with the MEA-MFT, Montana Rural Education Association, Montana School Boards Association, School Administrators of Montana, and Montana Small School Alliance.

The Montana-EPAS relating to school and district leaders is based on the 2015 Professional Standards for Educational Leaders (PSEL) formerly known as the Interstate School Leaders Licensure Consortium (ISLLC) Standards (2008). The focus of the PSEL is to articulate what effective leadership should look like in a today's and tomorrow's accredited school systems. The standards envision public schools that empower every learner to take ownership of their learning, that emphasize the learning of content and application of knowledge and skill to real world problems, that value the differences each learner brings to the learning experience, and that leverage rapidly changing learning environments to maximize learning (CCSSO, 2014). These standards support the primary purpose of the Montana-EPAS: to promote ongoing professional growth to ensure effective instructional practice that leads to learning, well-being, and success for every Montana student.

Montana-EPAS Implementation

Districts may implement the Montana-EPAS for the evaluation of superintendents by adopting, adapting, and modifying one of the state model examples, or districts may align the local evaluation system to state standards. Both implementation options fulfill the BPE standard ARM 10.55.701(4).

Montana Educator Performance Appraisal System (Montana-EPAS) Superintendent Evaluation: Process Guide and Model Examples

Purpose

The primary purpose of the model Montana system for evaluation of teachers and school and district leaders is to foster continuous professional growth enabling learning, well-being, and success for all students. The model state evaluation system is based on three core concepts: professional growth, continuous improvement and quality assurance.

Professional growth focuses on enhancing the skills and knowledge of superintendents in the following areas:

- Leadership/professionalism
- Student learning
- School climate
- School finance and law
- District management including collective bargaining
- Community/constituent relations
- Trustees/superintendent relations
- Achievement of district goals and/or indicators of success

Continuous improvement focuses on superintendent and trustee commitment to continuously improving practice so that principal, teacher, and student performance are continuously enhanced.

Quality assurance focuses on the collection of credible evidence about superintendent performance. The trustees and superintendent agree that the assessment/evaluation of the superintendent is an ongoing process that unfolds over the course of the year. As best practice, the process should consider:

- data that measure progress of the district
- achievement of agreed upon goals
- perspectives and judgment of the superintendent
- perspectives and judgment of the trustees

Professional Standards for Educational Leaders 2015, formerly known as Interstate School Leaders Licensure Consortium (ISLLC) Standards

The Professional Standards for Educational Leaders (PSEL) are founded on a research- and practice-based understanding of the relationship between educational leadership and student success. These Standards provide a holistic view of leadership promoting learning, achievement, development, and well-being of each student (PSEL, 2015).

The PSEL exemplify the knowledge, skills, and dispositions necessary for the development of effective superintendents. A continuum of professional growth throughout a superintendent's career recognizes that one gains skill and expertise over time. Individual school superintendents often focus time and energy on specific standards and performances that directly relate to their current administrative role. These standards guide the Montana-EPAS process guide and model examples for superintendent evaluation and performance indicators.

Superintendent Evaluation: Process Guide and Model Examples

This process guide and model examples are designed to encourage reflective conversation between trustees and the superintendent. This collaborative approach is for the purpose of improvement of performance of the superintendent, the trustees, and the system so that student learning, well-being, and success increases.

Terms and Definitions as used in this document

20-1-101, MCA

- District Superintendent means a person who holds a valid class 3 Montana teacher certificate with a superintendent's endorsement that has been issued by the superintendent of public instruction under the provisions of this title and the policies adopted by the board of public education and who has been employed by a district as a district superintendent (10).
- Principal means a person who holds a valid class 3 Montana teacher certificate with an applicable principal's endorsement that has been issued by the superintendent of public instruction under the provisions of this title and the policies adopted by the board of public instruction and who has been employed by the district as a principal. For the purposes of this title, any reference to a teacher must be construed as including a principal (15).
- Trustees mean the governing board of a district (32). Terms such as local board of trustees, school district board of trustees, school trustees, district trustees, or local board in this document shall be referred to as "trustees".

Professional Standards for Educational Leaders 2015 (formerly known as ISLLC Standards)

- Professional Standards for Education Leaders (PSEL) are model leadership standards that outline what education leaders should know and be able to do to ensure that all students graduating from high school are prepared ready for college, careers and the modern workforce.
- School and District Leader Assessments and Evaluation Tools provide data and diagnostic information about education leader performance and development across the career continuum. These data and diagnostic information are used to inform and support professional development.
- Educational Leadership Preparation Program Standards guide the knowledge and skills needed to provide quality school and district leadership and the foundation for the preparation of educational leaders. These standards can also be used to guide accreditation of administrator preparation programs and for professional development programs toward licensure.

Legal Responsibilities of the Trustees

- 20-3-324, MCA Powers and Duties. <http://leg.mt.gov/bills/mca/20/3/20-3-324.htm>
- 20-4-201, MCA Employment of teachers and specialists by contract. <http://leg.mt.gov/bills/mca/20/4/20-4-201.htm>
- 20-4-401(1), MCA Appointment and dismissal of district superintendent or county high school principal. Employing and appointing a district superintendent. Most trustees in Montana are required to employ a district superintendent. <http://leg.mt.gov/bills/mca/20/4/20-4-401.htm>
- 20-4-401(4) provides that the written contract of employment for a district superintendent needs to be approved by the board of trustees and must not be for a term of more than three (3) years. The Board should determine whether to renew the contract of employment for the subsequent year or years (and do so by specific motion) prior to February 1, because after the second successive contract, the contract is considered to be renewed for another year without action by the Board. Note that 20-4-401 speaks directly to the contract of employment and not to the completion of the superintendent's evaluation. The evaluation should inform the Board's action in renewing or non-renewing the contract prior to February 1. <http://leg.mt.gov/bills/mca/20/4/20-4-401.htm>
- ARM 10.55.701(4) & (4)(a) require that trustees have written policies and procedures for regular and periodic evaluation of all regularly employed personnel and all licensed staff, including principals, superintendents, and other school district leaders.

Note: Best practice encourages trustees and superintendent to mutually agree to a specific timeline. This timeline can be included in the superintendent's contract or district policy. By mutual agreement the timeline can be modified.

Pursuant to Montana law and rule, trustees, superintendents, principals, and other school and district leaders are responsible to supervise and evaluate licensed and nonlicensed district personnel. The superintendent model performance evaluation process is specifically designed to promote thoughtful and meaningful conversations between the trustees and superintendent. This collaborative approach should enhance the ongoing professional growth and performance of the superintendent, trustees, and the system to foster effective instructional practice that ensures student learning, well-being, and success.

Common Components of a Superintendent Evaluation Instrument

Superintendents:

- Serve as chief executive officer of the local trustees.
- Serve as educational leader of the district.
- Engage with families and community.
- Build professional capacity of district personnel.
- Develop community of care and support for students.
- Oversee operations and management.
- Communicate with trustees to develop and maintain positive relations.
- Assist in development and implementation of district policies.
- Develop professional community for teachers and staff.
- Develop a culture of support.
- Develop effective communications.

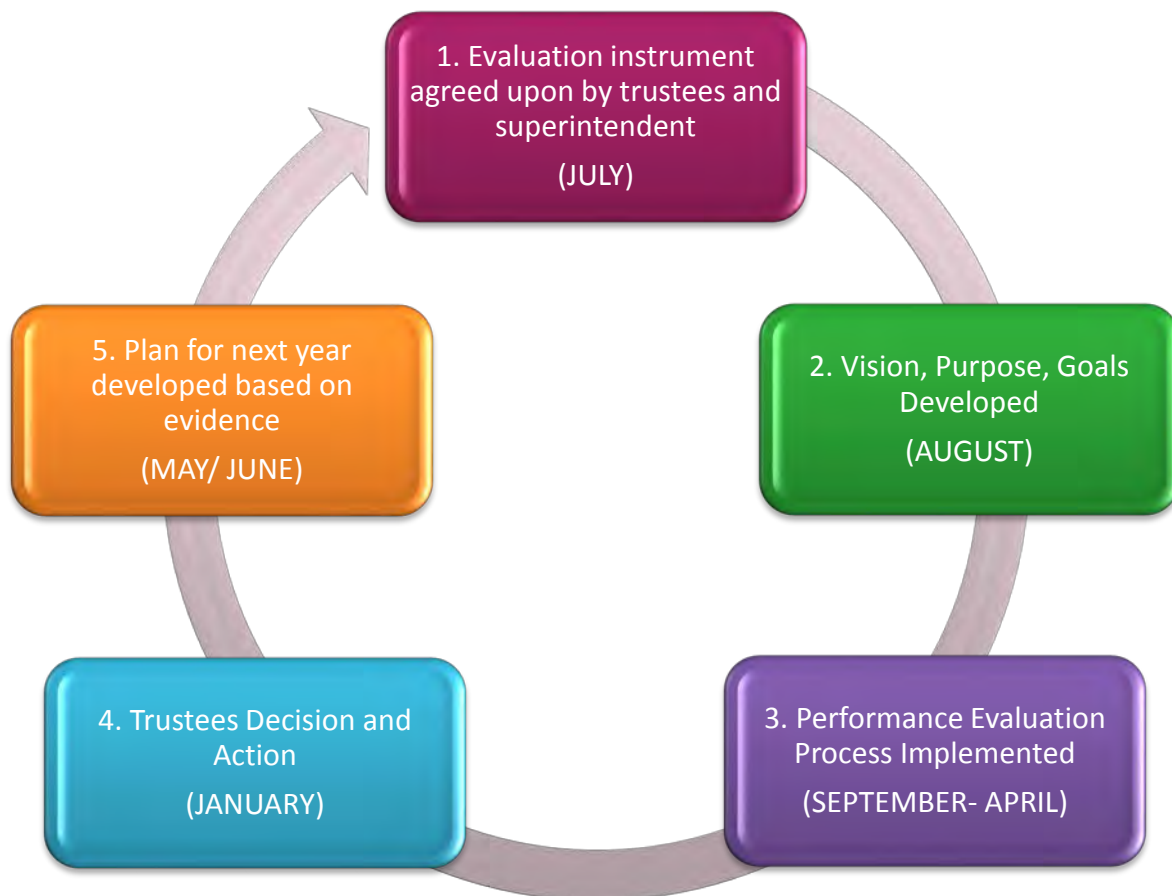

Annual Calendar of the Superintendent Performance Evaluation Cyclical Process

The ongoing role of the trustees is to articulate and communicate expectations for the superintendent. It is better to check on the understanding of expectations and priorities on a regular basis than to wait for a year and discover that the superintendent/trustees/district were not in agreement. Using formative feedback over the course of the year will provide an up-to-date reading of the performance of the superintendent and the trustees.

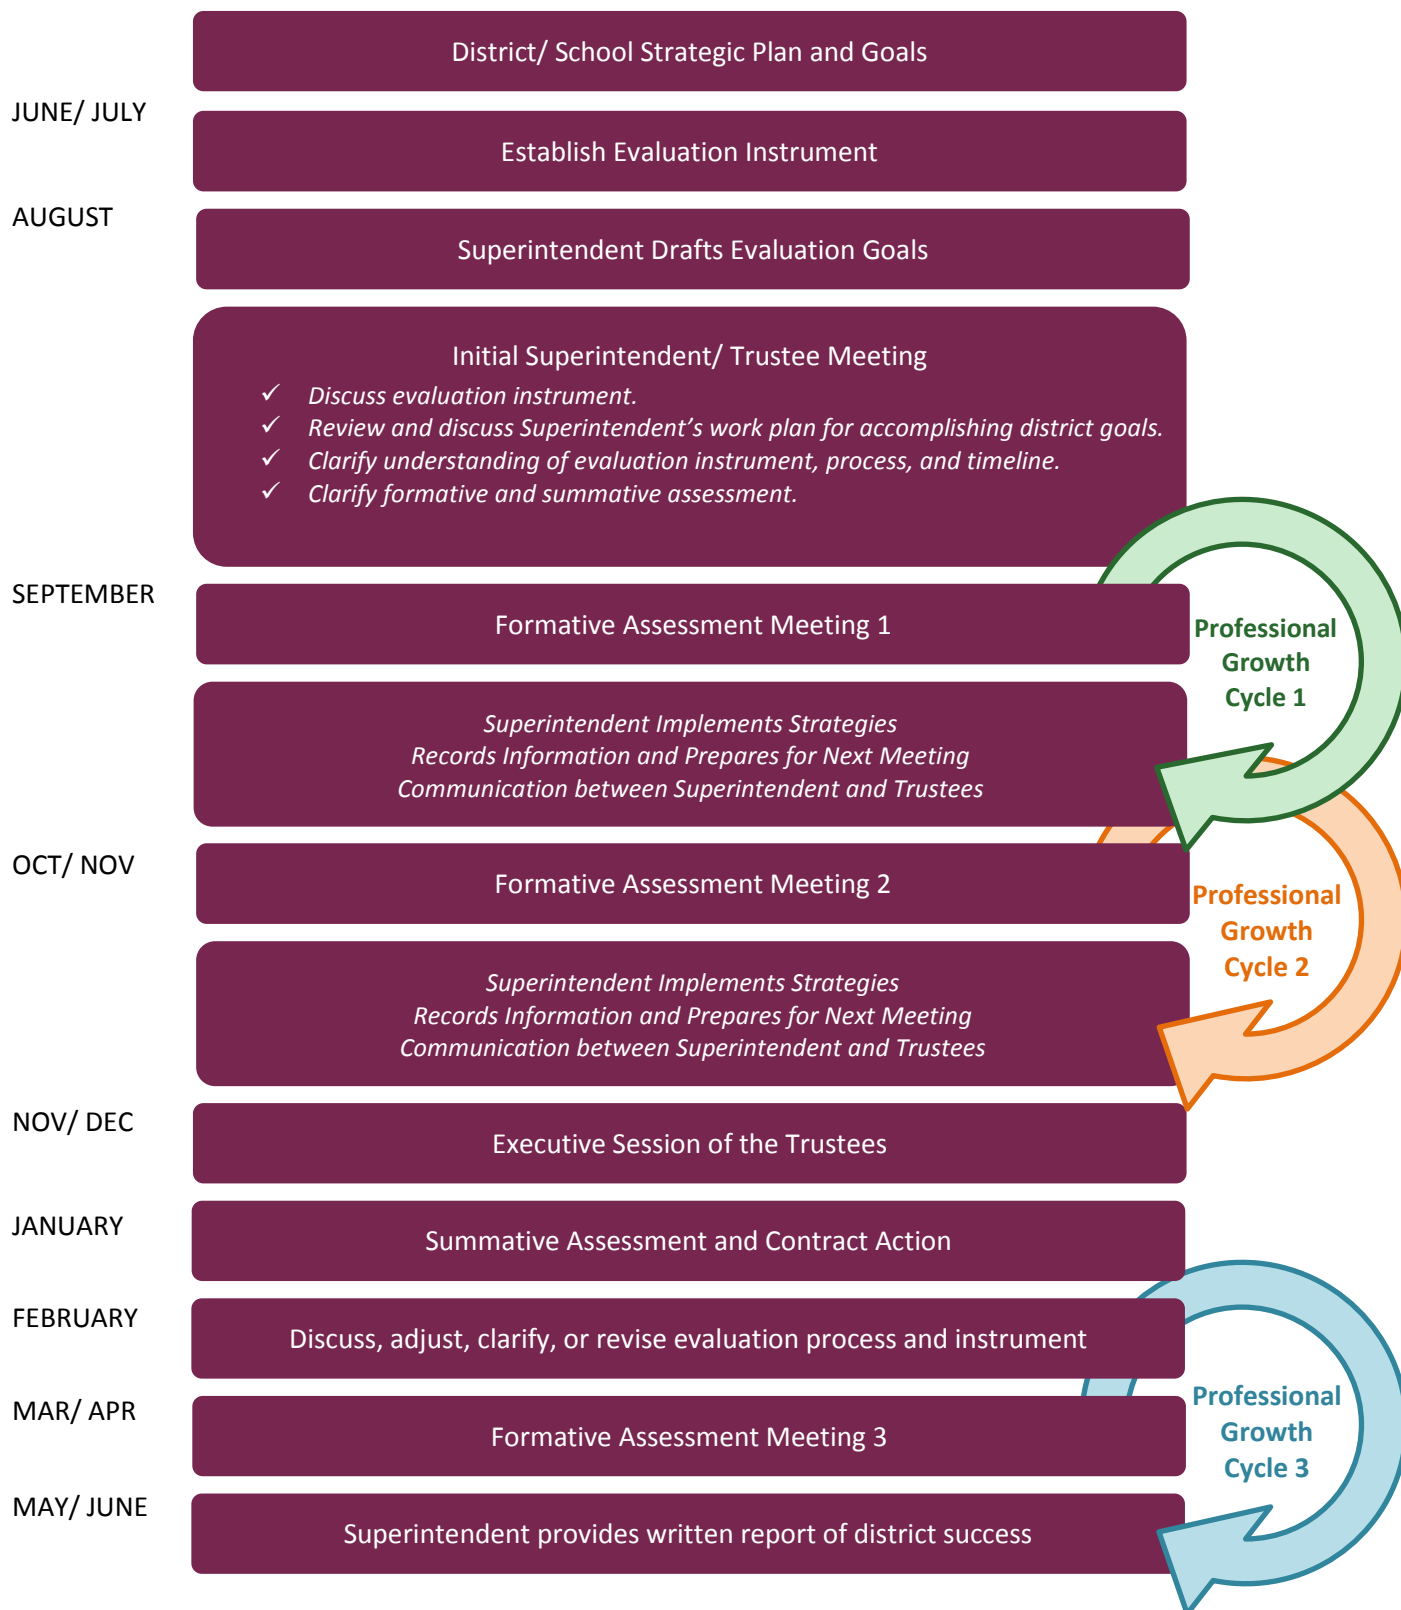

The key indicators listed below outline best practice for annual ongoing professional growth. These include:

1. Creating an evaluation instrument agreed-upon by trustees and superintendent;
2. Developing Vision, Purpose, and Goals;
3. Implementing a Performance Evaluation Process;
4. Trustee decisions and action; and
5. Developing a plan for the next year based on evidence.

Key Indicators of Annual Ongoing Professional Growth

Professional Growth Cycle Overview: Superintendent Cycle

June/July

At this time in the process, the end or beginning of the school year:

- Trustees and superintendent discuss the current evaluation instrument, make changes to the instrument, or develop a new evaluation instrument.

Note: The “evaluation instrument” is the physical or digital document that the trustees and superintendent agree to use during the evaluation process.

- Criteria of the instrument relate to the job description:
 - Leadership/professionalism
 - Student learning
 - School climate
 - School finance and law
 - District management including collective bargaining
 - Community/constituent relations
 - Trustees/superintendent relations
 - Achievement of district goals and/or indicators of success

Note: Superintendent Job Description – Many school districts attach a job description to the superintendent contract or district policy.

- Trustees and superintendent agree to the district/school strategic plan and goals.
- Trustees and superintendent establish a clearly defined district vision, mission, set of values and beliefs, and an up-to-date district strategic plan with clearly defined district goals.
- Trustees define the expectations for the superintendent for the coming year aligned to the goals.

August

- Trustees discuss evaluation instrument with superintendent.
- Trustees review and discuss the superintendent’s work plan for accomplishing district goals.
- Trustees clarify superintendent’s understanding of the evaluation instrument, process and timeline.
- Trustees clarify formative and summative assessment:
 - Formative assessment is an ongoing process to provide the superintendent with informal feedback on performance over the course of the year.
 - Summative assessment is the culminating written evaluation.

September

- Trustees and superintendent review evaluation process, timeline, and job description.
- Trustees review and discuss superintendent's report on the progress of the district.
- Superintendent may prepare a self-evaluation report or other documentation to share with the trustees at this session.
- Trustees provide formative performance feedback to the superintendent.
- Trustees establish date to conduct formal evaluation as specified in superintendent contract or district policy.

October/November

- Trustees review and discuss superintendent report on progress of the district.
- Trustees provide formative feedback to superintendent.
- Superintendent distributes evaluation instrument to each trustee.
- Trustees complete individual responses to the evaluation instrument.
- Trustees develop Composite Evaluation. To maintain confidentiality, the chair or designated trustee compiles the evaluations of the individual trustees. The process used and person designated to compile the evaluations shall be mutually agreed upon.

November/December

- Superintendent schedules Executive Session of the Trustees. The composite evaluation is discussed at a meeting of the trustees, typically in executive session. Trustees provide superintendent with a copy of the composite evaluation prior to this meeting to promote a rich discussion.

Note: State Statute requires trustees to record minutes of executive sessions 2-3-312(4), MCA.

January

- Best Practice: Trustees, in an open meeting, are prepared to provide comments and reflections, in a general way, of the evaluation process.
- Trustees agree to renew the contract of the superintendent, if the executive evaluation session satisfies both parties.
- Trustees take action on a motion to renew the contract during an open board meeting.
- Trustees conduct an open discussion of why they support the motion without revealing specific provisions of the evaluation.

Note: Trustees must take action on superintendent contract prior to February 1, pursuant to 20-4-401(4), MCA.

February

- Trustees or a designee places copies of the evaluations of the individual trustee and the composite evaluation in the superintendent's evaluation/personnel file. The superintendent has a legal right to see all of the individual evaluations.
- Trustees and superintendent discuss the evaluation process and instrument making adjustments, clarification, or major revisions, as needed.
- Other potential guidelines for the trustees and superintendent to discuss:
 - How might we establish tentative district goals for next year?
 - How shall we encourage full participation by all trustees?
 - How do we encourage open professional conversations and discussion between us?
 - How do we foster and encourage our culture of learning to ensure student learning, well-being, and success?

March/April

- Trustees discuss superintendent report on the progress of the district.
- Trustees provide formative feedback to superintendent.
- Trustees and superintendent discuss performance of trustees.

May/June

- Superintendent provides written report of district success in reaching the annual district goals and expectations.
- Trustees and superintendent modify or reaffirm district indicators of success and annual performance targets.
- Trustees and superintendent review and modify or reaffirm the communication protocols.

The Superintendent Evaluation Process Quinn and Associates

DRAFT

Superintendent Evaluation: An ongoing process of professional growth

Quinn and Associates provide research-based information on key points about superintendent performance assessment/evaluation.

Basic Challenges of the Superintendent Assessment/Evaluation Process

- Depending on number of trustees a superintendent may have three to 11 bosses, not just one person. Many trustees have little experience giving formal performance feedback.
- Trustees operate in a political environment. Their actions and comments are often influenced by the politics of the situation.
- Perfect performance assessment instruments and processes do not exist. With clear purpose and intent to guide the evaluation process, trustees and the superintendent can develop a system that works well for them.

Evaluation is a process, not an event.

The superintendent's performance should be viewed as a process over the course of each year and over the term of the superintendent's employment, rather than just a once per year event.

Superintendent evaluation practices are contextual and depend on:

- Size of the district.
- Relationships among the trustees.
- Intensity of local media attention and coverage.
- District history of superintendent evaluation.
- Montana State Law and Administrative Rules.
- Longevity of the superintendent.
- Degree of influence of the superintendent.

All that truly matters is the superintendent's ability to raise student achievement and close achievement gaps; however, the superintendent needs to stay long enough to do this.

Longevity of a superintendent depends on:

- Superintendent and trustees relationship.
- Actions/decisions are moral, legal, and in the public interest.
- Relationships with staff and community.
- Financial management.
- Ability to prioritize.
- Ability to communicate with all audiences.

Performance of the governance team (trustees) should be assessed concurrently with the performance of the superintendent.

Nothing has greater impact on the superintendent's performance than the performance of the trustees. The evaluation process should provide for constructive dialogue between and among all members of the governance team (trustees) and provide an opportunity for the superintendent and governance team (trustees) as a whole to grow together. To ensure ongoing professional growth the trustees and superintendent should review:

- Performance of the trustees' duties.
- Adherence to agreed-upon communication protocols.
- Adherence to agreed-upon standards of practice.

Superintendent performance evaluation should be a strategic process.

Performance evaluation should provide data to verify the superintendent's positive effect on the continuous improvement of the district and schools. Superintendent performance evaluation will establish a capacity building process to ensure that the district performance data demonstrate a positive effect on student learning, well-being, and success. The process focuses on professional growth, continuous improvement, and quality assurance. Superintendent performance evaluation should be viewed as a growth mechanism rather than a defense mechanism, and should be timed to be a meaningful part of the district planning process.

The form of assessment should be different in Year One than in later years.

During the first year, a comprehensive strategic plan and accountability model should be developed and adopted by the trustees. Accountability should begin with the trustees and the superintendent, and then allow the superintendent to hold direct reports, building principals, teachers, and all other employees and students responsible for success as it has been defined in the strategic plan. This process becomes the foundation for the data-driven portion of the superintendent's performance assessment.

The specific process may or may not be spelled out in the superintendent's contract.

Best practice encourages trustees and the superintendent to mutually agree to a specific timeline. This timeline can be included in the superintendent's contract and/or district policy. By mutual agreement the timeline can be modified.

Best Practice Example: Superintendent Performance Evaluation Framework

Quinn and Associates provide a framework for “best practice” in the superintendent performance assessment/evaluation process. The process outlined below recognizes as a basic principle that the superintendent is the only executive who has a formal reporting relationship to the trustees, and is the only employee the trustees hold accountable for the success of the system.

Primary responsibilities of the trustees:

- Defining success for the system.
- Hiring a superintendent who will be able to achieve that success.
- Establishing clear performance expectations for the superintendent and holding the superintendent accountable for day-to-day management and system success.
- Providing regularly scheduled opportunities for constructive feedback on superintendent performance and on the performance of the trustees.
- Establishing an annual plan for monitoring district success.

Primary purposes of the superintendent performance assessment/evaluation process:

- Fulfill the trustees’ responsibilities for management oversight and assure the trustees that policies are being implemented properly.
- Enhance the superintendent’s effectiveness.
- Hold the superintendent and the system accountable for continuous improvement on the trustees’ adopted district indicators of success.
- Create a periodic, systematic, and constructive form for dialogue between the superintendent and the trustees regarding district goals and progress.
- Assess the performance of the trustees and the impact upon the performance of the superintendent and the system.

Outline of the Process:

The trustees and superintendent agree that the assessment/evaluation of the superintendent is an ongoing process that unfolds over the course of the year. As best practice, the process should consider:

- Data that measure progress of the district.
- Achievement of agreed upon goals.
- Perspectives and judgment of the superintendent.
- Perspectives and judgment of the trustees.

Model Examples

The Evaluations System Work Group working on the Montana Educator Performance Appraisal System (Montana-EPAS) found it very difficult to come up with one single model superintendent evaluation instrument. The Evaluations System Work Group recognizes the differences in size of school districts, the make-up of local trustees, and the models of governance. The model superintendent evaluation instrument examples that follow are meant to reflect the differences in approaches that trustees and superintendents may take in effective evaluation. For example, some trustees and superintendents find that a narrative response works well and leads to a rich discussion during the evaluation process. In other instances, trustees and superintendents may find a numerical ranking works best. In any case, the most important element in effective evaluation is that the evaluation instrument should lead to a rich discussion of the performance of the superintendent and the success of the district.

These models are not the only superintendent evaluation instruments that can work – please feel free to adopt, adapt, or re-create your own instrument. The goal of the Evaluations System Work Group is for this process guide to assist you as you develop your evaluation instrument and the process you will use for an effective superintendent evaluation.
